If Only to Obey

A Film on the Commands of Jesus and John 14

Logline - Mike Falkenstine takes the viewer on a journey to discover the commands of Jesus, how Jesus wants us to obey them and the consequences when we choose not to obey.

Summary - For those who have accepted Christ as their Lord and Savior, Jesus gives us commands to obey. In John 14:15 Jesus clearly states, "If you love me, you'll obey my commands."

The North American church is increasingly getting away from the harder teachings of Christ. Let's look at the commands of Jesus and how they relate to the life of the Christian. The commands that make up the Great Commission are of particular interest, especially the ones to proclaim the Gospel and make disciples.

The lack of obedience to these commands, especially as it relates to the unreached and unengaged populations of our planet have devastating consequences. Close to 47,000 people die every day having never heard the Gospel.

How can a Christian church, armed with the best news ever told, stand idly by while so many die without ever hearing about Jesus? We'll talk to believers who are bearing fruit through their everyday lives and we'll discover how all of us can find simple ways to find victory in your own life as well.

Investment Opportunity and Outreach - The documentary will be completed in 2023, and we trust God to use this film to 'stir up' the North American Church. We plan to pair screening events together with online streaming, with the goal to have individuals and churches use this film to reach more of the world for Christ.

Christians have the lifesaving message of the Gospel. Come be a part of this incredible opportunity to engage people in the Great Commission.
